

About Dr. J. Tweedle Thumbtack, the author of Diaper Chimp: Discovery

Some people use euphemisms for being reclusive, such as "I'm shy" or "I like my space". Dr. J. T. Thumbtack does not feel the need for any such euphemisms. He is a recluse, and he's not shy about saying so. Thus he is disinclined to share any personal details about himself, such as his age (north of young but south of old), his education (he really does have a doctoral degree), his marital status (happily married), and where he lives (in the Philadelphia area).

Dr. Thumbtack is very protective of his privacy, and would be difficult to locate under almost any circumstances. You won't find his name on any voter registration list, driver's license, or deed. However, Dr. Thumbtack has authorized William Luttrell III, the author, to speak on his behalf. Mr. Luttrell can be contacted by email at luttrellwriter@comcast.net, or by clicking here to be referred to Mr. Luttrell's website.